BE GIVEN NEW TEST

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The civil service commission has de-elded to give a new examination for prohibition agents. Prohibition Commissioner Down said he was advised informally today.

Doran said the examination probably would be given late this summer and would be "an improvement" on the first test, which caused more than a majority of agents throughout the country to agents throughout the country to fail for permanent appointment.

Doran said a majority of the agents in every state failed in the that examination and the eligible last for replacement is not sufficient to man the force. He said the new examination would give a second chance to all agents who failed to qualify in the original examination.

Let's Get Our Heads Together, Folks

70U, the residents of Santa Ana, you in whose bosom still burns the spark of civic pride-You are the red blood corpuscles that keep good health in the commercial and social life of this community.

Your vision and initiative have made Santa Ana what it is today. Your growth and success is, in a large measure, interwoven with the growth and success of Santa Ana and her institutions. As you have produced wealth at a profit to yourself, you have increased values in this city. Eliminate your profits, or even forget the importance of retaining a sufficient portion of them within institutions that will keep those funds active for the commercial and industrial inte ests and improvements of Santa Ana, and what have you left? Merely a lifeless shell—for the maturity of a locality soon stops when the use of the money accumulations of its people is not locally available under the law for use in the creation of a new wealth at home instead of being entirely devoted to the increase of wealth in other centers.

The officers and directors of the Commercial National Bank of Santa Ana appreciate the benefits that will come to every individual and interest in this community through co-operation. We want you to keep in mind that this is purely a Santa Ana National Bank—an institution that will get its growth and progress from furthering the growth and progress of its customers. We shall recognize a loyalty to our depositors that will grow stronger as the years of association roll by—a loyalty that will express itself in an ever active effort to nourish and conserve their interest, and those of the community relating to them, in every possible way. Perhaps you will wish to do business with a bank whose activities are governed by such a spirit of service—an institution that has purposely prepared itself to be much more to its customers than merely the custodian of money.

If this should be the case, the opening of this bank on July 7th will be of interest to you. You will want to get one of the beautiful and useful pencils which will be given to all first day depositors and thus be identified for all time with the establishment of this strong financial institution, whose service is dedicated to the people of Santa Ana and vicinity.

one reason why they had taken this flat over the Busy Bee. It was cheap and near Rod's work. Saved car fare. When they got out to Willow Heights, where they wanted their house, he must ride in on a bus or have a car of his own. They'd need to save almost penuriously to "make" the Heights.

Bertie Lou finished putting the flat to rights with a heavy heart. Rod whistled cheerfully in the bathroom, though really he wasn't feeling so good either. His head ached and he was wondering what Bertie Lou would say when they came to "budgeting" last night's party. Somehow, before it was over, he'd been practically forced to buy some Scotch.

"Tony" had been planted at the back door, He could see that now. Certainly he hadn't sent for a bootlegger. Well, it had worked. The back door, He could see that now. Certainly he hadn't sent for a bootlegger. Well, it had worked. The gang had made a night of it.

The appropriation for entertainment had in some unaccountable manner spread out to include recreation, emergency, education, travel, and even the dentist's small slice of their round dollar system. It had seemed a very generous sum when first they had planned the budget. Their friends had been gorgeous to them. Bertie Lou and Rod didn't want to be niggardly in ted to the United States and included 26,158 immigrants and 17,8,4 non-immigrants. During the same month 6,240 emigrants left for permanent residence in some foreign country. Eighty-one and nine-tenths per cent of these immigrants landed at New York. Of the immigrants admitted at all ports, 4,115 came from Germany, 2,648 from the Irish Free States, 2,005 from Italy, and 1,671 from Great Britain, 5,059 from Mexico, 4,466 from Canada.

It is also interesting to note that during the suddown or widowers, as the case might be.

Poor is the man now who cannot afford two or three divorces. Some of these marriages cannot have the word "companionate" properly affixed to them as a modifying adjective, as companions are more than acquaintances, though we notice woman whom he has just married, for 180 days, or was it 150?

Britain, 5,059 from Mexico, 4,466 from Canada.

It is also interesting to note that during the 11 months between July, 1927, and May 30, 1928.

144,470 quota immigrants were admitted, or 86 per cent of the annual quota as compared with 151,393 or 92 per cent entering the country during the corresponding period of the previous year.

The exodus of aliens during May totaled 25,512, 75 per cent of 19,272 were non-emigrants going abroad for a short stay, the remaining 6,240 were emigrants leaving for permanent residence in some for country.

He had actually met her in this length of time, several times.

foreign country.

The statistics are extremely interesting as correcting wrong impressions. People in various sections of the country living close to where the Italians, Mexicans, and Germans are arriving and settling come to think that the quota for the nasettling come to think that the quota for the nationality settling near them is entirely too large, whereas it is small enough compared with the great open spaces still existing in this country and the possibilities for assimilation. The tendency of immigrants to congregate where those who came before them have settled makes their number only on the day that we celebrated the adoption of Declaration of Independence and were enjoying freedom which is ours in America, there was lished in the various papers of the country a ement concerning a very different condition in

REPRESSION IN RUSSIA

It prohibits the use of any kind of library or reading room on religious premises. Religious services or rites are prohibited in hospitals, prisons and factories except when requested by the dying. In other words, the law of Soviet Russia denies the people the freedom of assemblage and the expressing of themselves under another words. ing of themselves under any circumstances if this expression is religious in its character.

of our life's activities. To eliminate for us the power to express ourselves with group consciousness is to deny our freedom just as surely as it would be to refuse to permit us to leave a particular room in which we might be incarcerated.

Why any group should have any power to determine what other groups should do is difficult for Americans even to understand. We rather think, as Mr. Lincoln said, that "No man is good enough to govern another man without that other man's consent."

for a vote in November.

If the sentiment, which we hear expressed on this measure is indicative of the general condition, the "pugs" will have to go outside of California to make money out of the support of boxing.

The people of Soviet Russia can no more understand America's institutions of free speech and the rights of assemblage today than they could in the days of the Czar.

A movie actress married her first husband the other day for the third time. When you sink the third time, they say, you're usually all through.

SILENCE IS GOLDEN

A friend of ours recently gave heated expression concerning the fact that he could not find a place to eat or go to a movie or several other places and enjoy any reasonable degree of silence. He said he had gone with friends into various places and the radio or the phonograph or ceaseless chatter emitting from somewhere, hawking of this thing and that thing had driven him to distraction. We didn't entirely agree with our friend who put all the lurid colors in his description for we have been in some places where we have enjoyed eating with our friends without the torment of either the radio or the phonograph and sometimes we have actually sought out such a place, for we have the radio and the phonograph constantly elsewhere. At the same time, we have no doubt but that the local

ACOUAINTANCE MARRIAGE

We used to keep track of the pedigrees of the husbands and wives among what we might term "The Four Hundred" in America. But the divorces and remarriages and exchanges of husbands and wives have made us dizzy.

Immigration statistics for May, 1928, recently ande public by the Commissioner General of Immigration, Harry E. Hull, are well worth consideration. During that month 43,972 aliens were admitted to the I lained State and its latest and its latest she was. She was Mrs. Somebody, but who she was, there she was treed. We can be optimistic, however, for certainly it can get but little worse.

CLEARING HOUSE FOR LOCAL EVENTS

The local celebration under the auspices of some of our organizations of former war veterans did not receive the co-operation of the local people which the character of the enterprise warranted. It may be that it is too much to ask local folks to support such laudable programs for our natal holiday. Yet we have no doubt but what many would have found this interesting program of infinitely more value and enjoyment than that found by going farther and seeking harder for recreation.

There are so many demands, however, made upon the citizens for co-operation in various enterprises of similar character that it is difficult for him to find room for any initiative on his own account in his own life.

Some of us feel that it is a mad whirl which is almost resulting in confusion. We will almost have to have a clearing house of some character for public events to get time to co-operate and partici-

A mother, with the very best of intentions, de-coted to the last breath, cannot give the children what their father can give them. She is herself what their father can give them. She is herself and he is himself and the children need both. The time that father has is limited to holidays and evenings but that is quite a bit. It is enough to allow him to become acquainted with his children. A girl likes to play with her father. By and by she likes to talk things over with him. She likes to share her thoughts about people and things. There is a quality of unfamiliarity about father that mother does not have for the girl, and in that lies an appeal, that father can turn to good account.
